

The Conference:

The International Conference on Live Line Maintenance has been successfully held around Europe from 1992 to 2008 every second year and since 2008 every third year. The Conference provides a unique interdisciplinary forum for discussion about the live line maintenance and applications. Development, implementation, monitoring, applications, safety of employees, hazards, measuring techniques, standards and other related topics are within the scope of the conference. ICOLIM 2014 will take place in Budapest, Hungary, 7–9 May, 2014.

Venue:

Novotel Budapest City and Budapest Congress Center

Organizers:

The Conference is organized by Budapest University of Technology and Economics, E.ON Hungária Zrt., ELMŰ-ÉMÁSZ Ltd., MAVIR Ltd., Hungarian Electrotechnical Association on behalf of the Live Work Association (LWA).

Topics on Live Line Maintenance:

Live maintenance in low-, medium- and high-voltage fields • Construction, operation, modernization and maintenance experience on Live Working in lines and stations • New tools, equipment and materials • Safety and quality aspects. electromagnetic field • Standards, regulations and legal aspects • Working methods, new procedures and techniques in Live Working • Training, selection and qualification of people on Live Working • Economic aspects and environmental protection • Live Working and Energy Market.

Conference language:

English

Deadlines:

Abstract submission: Friday, 20 September, 2013

Abstract acceptance: Friday, 8 November, 2013

Full paper submission: Friday, 17 January, 2014

Notification of acceptance : Friday, 21 February, 2014

Early deadline for payment: Friday, 7 March, 2014

Final payment: Friday, 25 April, 2014

Registration deadline for exhibitors: Friday, 28 March, 2014

Contacts:

website: www.icolim2014.org

email: info@icolim2014.org

